

- with this content type you can set up different document types such as policies and procedures, statutory documents etc and filter the documents using the document types. You define the 'document types'

The cost of implementing both of these would be £400. * see below* I could also set up something similar for Finance documents, with a filter for 'Year' at the top of the page. The costs of these would be approx £200 per Content Type, depending on exactly what you would like.
